

RULES OF THE SANCTUARY

Conditions of Entry and Presence in this Sacred Compound

Presented by the Congregation Leadership and the International Fund for Tabernacle Purity

Welcome to our Mikdash Me'at (Sanctuary in Miniature). We are honored to host you in our sanctuary. This building is private property, managed and maintained by the congregation's leadership. Preserving the sanctity of this place and the honor of the Divine Presence is the foundation of our existence. Please Note: Entry and presence within this compound are strictly conditional upon absolute and irrevocable agreement to the articles of this charter

A. Sanctity of Speech and the Silence of the Sanctuary

.This place is dedicated to prayer, Torah study, and spiritual reflection•

There is an absolute and sweeping ban on engaging in secular conversations (Sichat Chullin), making loud • noises, or creating any other disturbance during prayer services, Torah reading, and all times spent within the .sanctuary

All who enter are required to conduct themselves with the reverence, silence, and nobility appropriate for • .standing before the Creator

B. Absolute Digital Disconnect

.The prayer hall constitutes a space entirely free from external distractions•

There is an absolute ban on the use of cellular phones, tablets, media players, or any other electronic devices • .within the sanctuary premises

Devices must be completely turned off prior to entry or deposited in the designated secure boxes in the lobby. • .Active devices may not be brought in, even on "silent" or "vibrate" modes

C. The Authority of the Gatekeepers (Gabbaim and Sanctity Supervisors)

The Gabbaim and Sanctity Supervisors, appointed by the congregation leadership and the International Fund, • .possess full and exclusive authority to enforce these regulations

Congregants and guests are obligated to comply fully with the instructions of the Gabbaim, without argument or • .appeal, and to treat them with the respect due to public emissaries

D. Enforcement and Trespassing (Property Conditions)

Any individual who violates the rules of silence, uses a cellular device, or refuses to obey the instructions of the • .Gabbaim, thereby violates the conditions of entry to this property

In the event of a violation, the Gabbaim are authorized to demand the violator's immediate exit from the • .compound

Legal Warning: From the moment an individual is asked to leave by an authorized representative • (Gabbai/Supervisor), their legal permission to remain on the premises expires. Refusal to leave the compound following an explicit demand constitutes the criminal offense of Trespassing, and the management will employ • all legal means at its disposal, including summoning law enforcement for eviction

And they shall keep My charge, and the charge of the holy things" We thank you for respecting the sanctity of this " place, for your cooperation, and for your part in preserving the purity of the sanctuary. May it be the Divine will that our .prayers are accepted with favor and mercy before the Master of All
